

CHURCH CHIMES.

—The Kentucky Synod of the Cumberland Presbyterian church will meet in Bowling Green on Oct. 27.

—The Elizabethtown News says that Rev. J. M. Bruce's meeting at the Highland Baptist church resulted in 25 additions.

—Charles Gosler, of Evansville, Ohio, who has recently been converted to the Seven Day Adventist church, got into his head that he could walk on water. He tried it and was drowned.

—Rev. W. O. Shoemaker, of London has accepted a call to the Presbyterian church at Georgetown, and the Presbytery has fixed the fourth Sunday in October as the date for ordination.

—Dr. Parkhurst, the clerical sensation seeker, said in his sermon Sunday that the silverites who are trying to destroy what remains in the country of mutual confidence are "thoroughly false to the spirit of the gospel and accurately translatable to our collective interests and National destiny." W. P. St. John, one of the deacons, and other silverites got up and left the church.

—Tomorrow will probably mark the close of the big revival at the Baptist church, which has resulted in 20 or more conversions and additions, besides 10 individual evidence of a deep conviction of their need of salvation. Rev. Carter Helm Jones, of Louisville, has done the preaching and so marvelously fascinating is he that his congregations have been drawn from all classes and conditions. —Richmond Register.

—Rev. A. V. Sizemore's meeting at Mt. Tabor has resulted in 30 odd additions to date. His pulpit here was filled Sunday morning by Rev. McMurray, a brilliant young preacher, "little but loud," the members thought, and his sermon on Neglect of Christian Duty, which takes the joy from salvation, he said, was commented upon quite favorably. He prayed for the members who could not attend church at every service, but go only when the sun shines brightly or in the light of the moon. In fact he rubbed the members so very hard in different ways about not attending prayer meeting, Sunday school and having family altars erected, that I heard many tell him they expected to do better—to do their duty, but vows are easily made and pledges soon forgotten. The universal opinion of the members is that Bro. McMurray has a bright future before him. W.

SOMEWHAT LOCAL.

—The post-office at Webb's cross road, Russell county, has been discontinued. Mail should be sent to Kintle.

—Mrs. Caspari, who was given a year at Danville for horse stealing, has been pardoned by Gov. Worthington.

—The court of appeals has reversed the decision of the Garrard circuit court in the case of Anderson vs. Batson.

—The Palmetto county board of contest has decided that the local option election held August 3 is valid, and they have dismissed the contest. Good.

—The Williamsburg Institute eleven, downed the Central University foot ball team at Richmond Saturday by a score of 8 to 6.

—The free turnpike flende have extended their operations to Mercer county, where they destroyed five gates Friday night.

—Mrs. Bettie Camden, of Parkville died and was buried Thursday. That night Miss Sallie Russell, her sister, died in Danville, and next morning newswoman of the dangerous illness of Mrs. Malinda Edwards, another sister, at Indianapolis. Miss Russell was 63 years of age and a milliner in Danville.

—Little Sterling D. Lackey, aged two years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel C. Lackey, died Tuesday night at the home of its parents with its grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Vanarsdall. —Harrodsburg Sayings. Friends here sorrow deeply with the young parents and send their sincerest sympathy.

NOT ON YOUR LIFE

Would the I. J. Do Intentional Injustice to the Judge.

Mr. VERNON, Sept. 25.—Your special correspondent in his communication from this place as to what took place here the first day of circuit court, intentionally or unintentionally leaves the impression that Judge Morrow adjourned the business of the court at 11:30 A. M. in order to make preparation for a political speech he made in the afternoon. The article is calculated to do Judge Morrow an unwarranted injustice. He did all the business assigned for that day and adjourned court not to prepare a political speech, but because there was no business to be transacted. Our law, Sec. 2246 Kentucky Statutes, provides that the petit jury shall be summoned for the second day of the court, and as there were no cases assigned for trial on the first day, Judge Morrow, from necessity, after the charge to the grand jury, adjourned till the second day. Judge Morrow has always attended to the proper business of this court and on no occasion has he allowed politics or religion to interfere with his duties as judge. S. D. Lewis, O. R. C. C.

GOV. MCCREARY.

Dispenses Democratic Doctrine Vigorously and Delightfully.

The Richmond Register says that Gov. James B. McCreary was accorded an ovation when he arose to address the Bryan and Sewall club at that place. He began by saying that the great overshadowing question in this campaign is "shall Bryan be elected and old time Jeffersonian democracy dominate our Republic, or shall McKinley be elected and republicanism prevail." He then analyzed the Democratic and republican platforms and contrasting the two so strongly that neither a fool nor a wayfaring man could be deceived as to the proper course to pursue. He showed that the election of the Ohio man would mean the adoption by a republican Congress of a tariff bill, greatly increasing the burdens of taxation. "It would mean the re-enactment of Federal election laws, which democrats had repealed and possibly the passage of a Force Bill. It would mean that all attempts to equalize taxation by the passage of an income tax bill would cease. It would mean no change in existing conditions, but that the financial, commercial and industrial conditions, caused mainly by republican legislation, would remain as they are. It would mean that gold would be the standard to regulate all values, and that in less than four months government bonds would have to be sold to keep up the gold reserve. On the other hand, Bryan's election would mean in every respect the reverse. The tariff taxes would not be increased, but reduced as much as practicable. There would be an equalization of taxes, so that all men would pay their just proportion. There would be no new election laws and no Force Bill, but suffrage would be free and as independent and universal as authorized by the constitution and the law of the land. Legislation for classes would stop and legislation for the benefit of the masses would be encouraged so far as the president had the power. There would be a settlement of the irrepressible conflict now going on in regard to the money question and the president and the patriotic Senators and Representatives who love their country and their party, would all work together for such an adjustment of the nation's affairs as would bring about an era of renewed prosperity, revived business, improved prices and result in the greatest good to the greatest number."

"Modern questions are relegated to the rear," said he, "and the great fundamental questions which came up in the early history of our country are coming to the front. It is now Jeffersonian democracy against republican plutocracy. (Applause.) It is the old-time standard democracy, which like the weight of the old-time silver dollar of our daddies, is the same to-day it was 100 years ago, against the modern bolting, hoisting democracy, which recently erected its banner at Indianapolis. (Great Applause.) It is a government by the masses as advocated by Jefferson against a government by the classes as advocated by Hamilton. In brief, it is a campaign in which the farmer, the business men, the laborer and the people are on one side, and the protected manufacturer, the tax-exempt monopolies, the nabobs of the trusts and combines and aristocratic millionaires and advocates of the Force Bill on the other side. (Applause) Bryan represents the masses and McKinley the classes. (Applause.)"

The speaker here referred to his personal association with Mr. Bryan, whom he served with four years in Congress and whom he said he admired for his ability, fidelity to duty, scholarship and purity. "He is only 36 years of age," said he, "but his name to-day is on millions of tongues and his fame has reached all the civilized nations of the earth. To-day he is the leader of the greatest civil revolution ever known in this country. He is conspicuous for his purity, patriotism and intellect. As an orator he is eloquent, persuasive and indefatigable. Like Henry Clay he would rather be right than be president and like Lincoln he believes in a government of the people for the people by the people." (Applause.)

Of his own position, Mr. McCreary said his record in Congress and his speeches showed where he stood on the money question and the other great questions at issue and all necessary to be added now was that he earnestly in favor of the election of the Chicago ticket, which he believed was regularly and fairly nominated. He asserted that he had always been opposed to both gold and silver monometallism, but he had always favored bimetalism. He referred to his vote in favor of coining the silver coinage and said that time had shown that it would have been best for the country if the bill had become a law. He referred to the recent letter of Prince Bismarck to Gov. Culbertson, of Texas, and called special attention to the fact that although Germany in the monetary conference of 1893, of which he was a member, refused to take active part in promoting international bimetalism, her greatest statesman and soldier now declares that the hour has come in which it is "advisable to bring about between the nations, chiefly engaged in the national commerce, a mutual agreement for the establishment of bimetalism." Amid much applause he referred to the additional statement of Bismarck, in which he declared that if the people of the United States should find it compatible with their interest to take independent action in the direction of bimetalism, he could but believe that such action would exert a most salutary influence upon the consummation of international agreement. He spoke for nearly two hours, holding his hearers in the closest attention and receiving frequent and generous applause. His speech, convincing in argument and conciliatory in tone, went far to bring back into the democratic fold those who have strayed off after the Palmer-Buckner ticket, which he denominated an unholy alliance with the republicans to catch votes for McKinley.

MCKINNEY.

—The telegraph night office has been closed at this place.

—Rev. W. T. Brooks preached at Turnersville last Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and Sunday night.

—Misses Claude and Lella Tomlinson, of Yonerville, were visiting their sister Mrs. Arthur Estes, here last week.

—Chas. John B. Thompson, of Harrodsburg, democratic candidate for Congress in this district, made a telling speech here last Saturday morning in favor of free silver at E. M. Ware's hall. It was largely attended.

—Mrs. S. G. Pulliam, who has been visiting Mrs. Lou Pulliam, at Harrodsburg, returned here Wednesday. Mr. B. Moore, who has been visiting his brother, Dr. S. G. Moore, returned to Gatesville, Texas, last week, accompanied by his niece, Miss Emma Moore, who will spend the winter there. Mrs. Mollie Owens, of Somerset, is visiting her brother, Mr. S. M. Owens.

—Mrs. Rosa Anderson entertained Friday night in honor of her guests, the Misses Conover and Messrs. Conover and Willis, of Adair county. Those present were: Misses Nannie and Sallie Bailey, Amanda Carson, Edna and Alma Wright, Alice Gooch, Messrs. Ed and Emmett Kubaaks, Phil Nunnally, E. O. Singleton, John and Arthur Carter, Marshall Herring, Howard Bailey and Dwight Root.

—The Misses Routen entertained Friday night in honor of their guests, Misses Nora Green, of Junction City, and Lena Barnett, of Stanford. It was quite an elegant affair. Supper was served at 10 o'clock. The following were present: Misses Beattie Worthington, Mayne Frye, Block Bogle, Nannie Kennedy, Annie Johnson, Pearl and Amanda Rose, Victoria Bishop, of Hustonville; Jessie Brown, Kate McKinney, Fanny Elder, Sophronia Montgomery, Mollie Wright, Maggie Tabler, Glenn Bibb, Margie Moore, of McKinney; Minnie Kincaid, Clinton, Tenn.; Messrs. Carl Wheeler, Eugene and Henry Carpenter, Ray Rose, Will and James Clarkston, Wade and Will Kennedy, Will Bishop, Noel Bishop, George Hunn, Cloyd Johnston, Howard Bailey, Marshall Herring, Hustonville; J. B. Williams, James North, J. H. Williams, George McKinney, Mt. Salem; Biddoe Bailey, Mac Lawson, Orland Beck, Stanford; Walker Bailey, Frank Green, Sam Lyons, Levi Bailey, McKinney.

—As a result of the severe gales on the French coast the steamer Magdalena founded near Bayonne and the crew were drowned.

HUSTONVILLE.

—Hustonville will have a monster fair next year and claims the week before the Danville fair.

—A Salisbury, N. C., paper says that James P. Harper, a "big-handed" Kentuckian, is there selling mules. Of course it means "big hearted."

—Little Parker Skope gave a party to his young friends Saturday afternoon from 2 till 4. A number of children were present and enjoyed the little fellow's hospitality.

—D. V. Kennedy, the experienced and clever miller, now has charge of the roller mills at McKinney. He is doing a good business and will make money if there's any in it.

—The Bryan Club desires through these columns to extend its thanks to the Middleburg band for the excellent music furnished during the speaking Saturday afternoon.

—There will be a scramble for the county offices by the republicans of this and next year. All of the white race, with one or two exceptions, will offer their services to help save the country.

—The Bryan Club is still growing, the membership now numbering considerably over 300. President J. P. Riffe and Secretary W. R. Williams take great interest in it and are the first on hand when the meeting hour arrives.

—Hustonville can boast of the best hotels of any town of its size on the Continent. The Weatherford House and the Vendome are both "out o' sight" when it comes to feeding and in other appointments they are just as good.

—The McKinney Canning Co. will close down this week after putting up about 125,000 cans, or about 10 car loads. No sales have been made yet, but the short crop will make their goods in demand. The company worked 70 odd men during the busy season.

—D. S. Carpenter, the farming implement, buggy and furniture man, says that his stock is for sale at and below cost in the event McKinley is elected. He is satisfied the hard times that would follow such a calamity would break him up and he had rather sell out than be sold out.

—About the hottest democrat in this section lives over the line in Casey. It is Morgan Reid, the well known teamster. For eight years he never failed to halloo "Hurrah for Cleveland!" when he came through town, but now it is "Hurrah for Bryan!" The republicans have spent many hours trying to convert the old man, but it is a case of love's labor lost. He is a democrat, teeth and toe nail, and says he's going to vote for Bryan if he has to wade through wild cats.

—Mr. Vandever's reference to Col. T. P. Hill in his speech was amusing and the audience showed its appreciation of it by applauding vociferously. Said he: "Col. Hill is an able man, a good man, and when the election is over and he ponders over the past, he will feel just as much ashamed of that Louisville speech as we are now. In fact, it was a regular coon speech and I would want no easier job than following him over the State and smashing into smithereens the few flimsy arguments he tries to present. I am indeed sorry for Hill."

—A large and enthusiastic crowd gathered at Hustonville Saturday afternoon to hear Hon. W. B. Smith, John B. Thompson and Mr. D. W. Vandever speak. The Middleburg brass band furnished good music for the occasion and democracy was far above par. Mr. Smith led off with a splendid effort and for 1 1/2 hours he both edified and entertained his hearers. The old gentlemen have lots of vim and fire left in him and is thoroughly conversant with the cause he espouses. Mr. Thompson came next and for more than an hour held the audience spell bound. He has no doubt about defeating Judge Davidson and if all the precincts in his district were in as good shape as this is, his majority would run far into the thousands. Mr. Vandever, who is full of free silver, an egg is of meat, came next and made an admirable talk. Bryan and Sewall and Mr. Thompson have no warmer supporter than Mr. V. and nothing he can do for their interests will be neglected. Like the other speakers, he was satisfied of democratic success and that good times will follow the election of the "Boy Orator of the Platte." The speaking was in Dr. Brown's lawn and notwithstanding the fact that it was necessary to either stand up or sit on the ground, the untired stayed to the last and still wanted more of the good doctrine. The republicans couldn't face the music and very few of them honored (?) the speakers with their presence. A few Negroes who wanted enlightenment on the subject slipped away from their white bosses and enjoyed the speaking. While the democrats are well organized, the republicans are letting no grass grow under their feet. They hold nightly meetings, which extend far into the wee small hours. About 9 o'clock each night the white bosses can be seen going one by one to the places of meeting and while the rest of the citizens are asleep they are holding high carnival with the Negroes. Some of the bosses are getting pretty old to keep such late hours and if they continue it until the election it may cut a year or so off of their sojourn in the land of the living. E. C. W.

JOHN B. THOMPSON, of Mercer.

DAN O'SULLIVAN, of the Louisville Critic, will either walk or pay his fare on the L. & N. hereafter. His paper published that that road "is a corporation draining the country like a dry sponge for the benefit of foreign bondholders and bulldozes its employees politically. A correspondence ensued with reference to it by Mr. J. H. Riggs, confidential clerk to President Smith, and the editor, which resulted in the return of the "complimentary annual" held by the latter, who objects to the censorship of his publications. The correspondence, which is given in the Critic, makes mighty interesting reading, especially for the boys who hold the coveted little pieces of card board. President Smith is exceedingly liberal and courteous to the newspaper men and they should reciprocate his kindness to the fullest extent compatible with the public good, and make no charges that can not be substantiated, but at the same time, an editor shouldn't feel that his "pass" estops legitimate criticism. If he does, he should not accept it, for then it becomes a bribe, so far as he is concerned, though the railroad certainly can not intend it as such. It has always been our rule to treat the railroads as we would an individual, with the utmost fairness, and shall continue to do so, pass or no pass, criticizing their conduct when necessary and eulogizing it when deserved. We are sure Mr. Smith could not ask more or less than this. Our knowledge of him is that he is a broad and liberal minded man, who only wants himself and his road treated fairly, otherwise we would accept no courtesy from him.

The largest crowd that has greeted the coming president honored him at Boston, where he spoke on the Commons to an estimated throng of 75,000 people. Mr. Bryan acknowledged the compliment and said: "I have spoken to a number of audiences, but never to one that seemed to reach so far away in the distance as this one. (Applause) I will speak to those who are nearest, and those who are in Rhode Island and Maine can hear me when I visit those States." Mr. Sewall was present and made a speech after being introduced by Mr. Bryan as the man who had refused to bow down to the golden calf. He said that he was on the ticket to stay and that the cause it represents was bound to win. Mr. Bryan spent Sunday with his running mate at Bath, Me., and they broke bread together as they will many times at Washington after next March.

AFTER trying local option for 14 years, the people of Owenston became disgusted at the farcical manner in which the law was enforced and last Saturday by a vote of 115 to 62 decided to return to the license system. At Mayfield the same day local option was voted again, by a majority of 99. It was voted on last May, when the drys won by 111, but the saloon men succeeded in getting the courts to say that the election was illegal. Mayfield has been without open saloons for 20 years and although repeated efforts have been made to vote license they never have succeeded.

The primary election in Fayette shows a decided increase in the vote, the total being 4,033. Wilkerson was nominated for jailer over three competitors by a plurality of 534 and Farrel for county attorney over Allen by 1,295. The largely increased vote has staggered the boltercrats, who claim that in order to make it so the democrats divided out the total registered vote proportionately among the candidates after finding the actual strength of each candidate. All of which is of course a very weak invention.

THAS ought to be no doubt of the election of George Fred Williams as governor of Massachusetts. He was nominated twice the same day. The convention first met in a body, but the gold democrats seeing they were largely in the minority withdrew and organized a rump convention which the silver men captured and made Williams the nominee. The bolters bolted again and this time succeeded in nominating a ticket to their liking.

A GENTLEMAN informs us that when Gov. Buckner mentioned the name of Bryan in his speech at Memphis, "the house fell on him," and the applause continued for minutes. Since then the "old guy" has ceased to name the people's favorite in his speeches, as he doesn't want to give them a chance for expressing their feelings so emphatically as to send a cold chill down the backs of him and his followers.

SENATOR SHERMAN in a labored newspaper article attempts to show that the so-called "crime of 1873," in which silver was assassinated in the dark, is without foundation in fact. He says every publicity was given the bill and every step in its passage was regular and legal. "Nevertheless," says he, "was a more unjust or unwarrantable charge made than that the act of 1873 was passed secretly, by stealth and with the object of concealing any part of it from the public." And yet the fact remains that the clause demonetizing silver was hid in a bill whose title gave no suspicion of its real intent. But for that act the country would not now be split from stem to stern on the issue, as there would have been no cause for the claim that silver has been unfairly dealt with to enable speculators to juggle with the value of gold and cause a stringency in the money market.

In his tour of the country, Mr. Bryan had received universally respectful treatment until he arrived at New Haven, where a lot of miserable puppies, who ought to be learning manners in a penal institution, instead of attending a famous college, forced him to stop speaking by their hideous yells and other noise-making methods. As these young ruffians are from other points than New Haven, that city can not be held responsible for the outrage, but her officers will be deserving of contempt if they do not bring the ring leaders to a realization of their despicable conduct.

THE boltercrat finding that they could not use the word "democratic" on the ballot, have had to drop that sacred word, so Palmer and Buckner electors will be voted for as "The National Sound Money Ticket." The emblem ought to be two old men leaning on each other, with "united we stand, divided we fall" printed beneath them. Democratic will put their cross under the rooster as usual.

A FRENCH chemist has succeeded in producing artificially a degree of cold measuring 263.9 below zero. Imagination can hardly conceive how cold that is and yet it is almost red hot compared with the chills that will creep up the spinal columns of the boltercrats, when Bryan is elected and they see how impotent they have kicked against the pricks.

The democratic State central committee has amicably settled the contest in the 4th district. D. H. Smith is decided to be the nominee and Mr. Murray has accepted the decision and will canvass for his late opponent. We fear, however, that the split is too wide for democratic success now and that John W. Lewis will continue to represent the district.

THE Critic is authority for the statement of the rumor that Mr. Walter F. Fester, late of the Commercial, now of the Frankfort Capital, has accepted a flattering offer from the Courier-Journal management to do editorial work on that paper. All that the C.-J. needs is a few more republicans on its staff to make the whole thing republican.

THE two-minute horse is a sight and he will likely be John R. Gentry. This famous pacer clipped a full second off the previous record at Rigby Park, Me., last week, coming under the string in 2:00, with the wind against him. Robert J. the same afternoon went against his record of 2:01, but only succeeded in making the mile in 2:03.

WITH the damnable iteration of a Poll parrot, the Courier-Journal squeaks day after day that a vote for Bryan is 2-13ths of a vote for Watson. Well, what of it? A vote for Palmer is half a vote for McKinley and anything is preferable to the regular democrat to the plutocratic-protection lay-out that the republicans offer the country.

OUR old friend, Col. Hodges, of the Lexington Observer, is a runner from away back. In a delegated vote of 169 in the Seventh district he didn't get a smell Saturday, when he contested with Bronston, Settle and Carroll for the democratic nomination for Congress. And the wind will continue to blow through his whiskers.

OLD man Dana prophesies that Bryan and his followers will go the way of Debs and Coxey and be known no more. It doesn't take so great a prophet as that arch fiend to democracy to predict that Dana will soon go to the devil, where he ought to have been long ago, with his N. Y. Sun.

GOV. BRADLEY thinks he thinks that McKinley will carry Kentucky by 20,000. He does real thinking through when he thinks it is not worth while to figure on the vote of the boltercrats. They won't poll 10,000 votes in the State.

THE attention of wavering democrats is called to a synopsis of Gov. McCrea's speech on our first page. The governor is firm in support of the Chicago ticket and gives excellent reasons why all democrats should do so.

POLITICAL POINTS.

—Godfrey Hunter estimates the silver republicans in the State at 3,000.
—Secretary Carlisle will make four speeches in Kentucky for the boltercrats.
—John Boyd Thatcher declines to run as the democratic nominee for governor of New York.
—McKinley broke the record Saturday by making 13 speeches to as many visiting delegations whose railroad fare was partly paid by Mark Hanna.

—It took 1,420 ballots for the democrats to nominate R. N. Bordiner for Congress at Chillicothe, Mo.

—Bronston leads in the primaries in the 7th with 65 votes, Settle has 55 Carroll 30 and John O. Hodges "niz."

—J. A. Craft will speak at Livingston, October 2d; Bernstadt, 3rd at 1:30 p. m.; Pittsburg, 3rd, 8 p. m. and London 5th.

—Ex-Congressman C. W. Milliken, of Franklin was nominated for Congress by a convention of boltercrats of the Third district.

—At a republican barbecue near Jackson, O., 8,000 pounds of beef, 7,000 loaves of bread and 2,500 gallons of burgoo were consumed.

—Sending unwilling employees to Canton, to listen to a course of lectures by McKinley is compulsory education.—Selt Lake Herald.

—The Mt. Vernon Republican, a new paper for Mt. Vernon, Rockcastle county, was to make its appearance yesterday. George H. Martz is editor.

—Oh yes, "the silver craze is dying out." In fact it's dead. That's why the gold papers are calling people so many hard names.—Louisville Critic.

—Chairman Faulkner, of the democratic campaign committee, says Mr. Bryan voted for Weaver in 1892 under the orders of the democratic National committee.

—Judge Joseph Betram, of Monticello, was nominated for Congress by the National democratic of the Eleventh district. He won't poll 500 votes in the district if reports be true.

—A prominent Indiana politician puts Bryan's majority in that State at 30,000, while others place it as high as 100,000. The farmers of Indiana, regardless of their political affiliations, are almost solidly for free silver.

—The republicans in Louisville have nominated George D. Todd for mayor; L. H. Noble, for judge of the criminal division; E. O. Linney, for State Senator from the 35th district and C. S. Cronch for clerk of the city court. Noble is an appointee of Gov. Bradley, whose action is thus endorsed.

—This is the way the Richmond Register disposes of "the most distinguished man who ever visited our little city." The son of his father, Stephen A. Douglas, spoke to a large crowd last night and convinced the intelligent portion thereof that he is the tail end of a poor kite. He is slangy, ungrammatical and woefully short of arguments.

—Of the fellow who spoke at Lancaster yesterday, the Cynthiana Democrat says: One Worth Dickerson is wandering loose about the country speechifying and predicting. The democrats of the Sixth district have frequently sized up the worth of this Worth and found him worth less than a seat in Congress. Disappointed office seekers and dethroned leaders constitute the sum and substance of boltercratism.

—Bismarck, the iron chancellor of Germany, writes as follows under date of Aug. 24 to Gov. Culberson, of Texas: "HONORED SIR: Your esteemed favor has duly been received. I hold that this is the very hour that would be advisable to bring about between the nations chief engaged in the world's commerce a mutual agreement in favor of the establishment of bimetalism. The United States are free by far than any nation of Europe, and hence, if the people of the United States should find it compatible with their interests to take independent action in the direction of bimetalism, I can not but believe that such action would exert a most salutary influence upon the consummation of international agreement."

—In his speech at Boston Mr. Bryan said: "If a dollar is only worth 50 cents it is because prices of commodities are twice as high, and if the manufacturer can get twice as many silver dollars for his goods as he does gold dollars now, why can't he pay his employees twice as much, so he won't lose a cent?"
Mr. Clough—But he won't do it.
Mr. Bryan—Then you stop telling your employees you are interested in them just before election.
Mr. Clough—I am merely stating the facts.
Mr. Bryan—You are stating what are the facts. The employer never pays any more than he has to pay. It is only before campaigns that he poses as a philanthropist and tries to make his employees vote his way.

PERSONAL POINTS.

Mrs. J. E. LYNN is ill with malarial fever.

Mr. W. F. SHERIDAN is laid up with a severe cold.

Mr. H. J. McROBERTS went to Cincinnati yesterday to buy goods.

Mrs. T. A. RICE left yesterday to join her husband at New Orleans.

A little child of Mrs. Lewis Withers has something like the diphtheria.

Dr. Wm. SKELTON went to London Saturday and preached there Sunday.

Miss ELLEN BALLOU went to Lancaster yesterday to visit her brother's family.

Mr. R. G. HALL and son Wearen, of Somerset, spent Sunday with his mother here.

Dr. N. H. McKINNEY left Sunday to re-enter the Chicago College of Dental Surgery.

Messrs. RICHARD BURN and Lucien L. Lewis are studying law under Messrs. Hill & Alcorn.

Mrs. U. R. WATERMAN and little son, of Ocala, Fla., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Davis.

Mrs. N. A. TYLER fell from a horse while riding to a meeting in Clark county and was considerably hurt.

Miss MAMIE MOORE arrived from Louisville Saturday and resumed her place in Mrs. Daddler's millinery store.

Mrs. J. E. PATRICK and little Eugene, of Jackson, arrived yesterday to visit Capt. Thomas Richards and family.

Col. T. P. HILL went down to Bowling Green Sunday so as to be there in time to speak for the McK. A. Society.

The friends of Miss Olive Woodson here will be sorry to learn that she is seriously ill at her home in St. Joseph, Mo.

Miss ELLA TINSLEY, of Barbourville, one of the prettiest girls in Kentucky, was on Saturday's train en route to Louisville.

Out of 56 enrolled, 40 of Miss Annie McKinney's pupils at Ewell broke out with the measles and she broke for her home here.

LITTLE MISS ANNIE McCLARY had two fingers badly lashed in a cider mill while on a visit to her grandfather out in the country.

Mr. T. B. GRAHAM, of the Widows and Orphans' Home of the Christian church, was here yesterday in the interest of that institution.

Messrs. GEORGE E. STONE and A. P. Young, of Liberty, were here Sunday. They say that the "National Democrat" will not get a dozen votes in Casey.

CAPT. AND MRS. E. K. SORRELL, of the K. C., have taken rooms at the St. Asaph and Saturday Mrs. Sorrell went up to Lexington to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Warman.

JUDGE VINCENT BORRINO, of London, passed through to Liberty Sunday where he was to speak yesterday. The demonstrators accused Mr. Ben Lee Hardin, of Harrodsburg, to answer him.

W. VERNON RICHARDSON, of Danville, a former employe of this office, has been granted license to practice law and we hope he will become a most distinguished disciple of Blackstone.

SAM MENEFEE tells the Danville Advocate that he is as sure to get the nomination for sheriff of this county as the sun is to rise to-morrow, but Sam Owens is satisfied that he is talking through his hat.

Miss ELLEN BALLOU received a letter from her old schoolmate, Miss Mamie Bryant, at Clifton Forge, Va., saying that her father, Capt. H. C. Bryant, fell dead at the depot at that place of apoplexy. Many of our citizens knew the fine old gentleman.

Our last issue told of the visit of Dr. H. M. Grant and Miss Florence Anderson to Louisville, but we did not know that the next time we saw them the twain would be one flesh, but so it was. They returned Friday as husband and wife, having married in the city. The groom is a rising young dentist and the bride the handsome daughter of Mr. W. G. Anderson, of Garrard.

Boys.—Born to the wife of Curt Jerkey two fine boys and to Mrs. James Munday a youngster of that gender.

The Courier-Journal says that John F. Whight will speak here for the holocaust on the 12th. Who the — is Whight?

The Broadhead fair begins to-day. Don't fail to go if you want to see a good show of stock and enjoy genuine hospitality.

DEATH.—Undertaker J. C. McClary furnished a coffin for Nelson Buford, an aged and respected East End Negro, Saturday.

Don't fail to attend the Dawson sale Thursday. A good farm, stock, household and kitchen furniture will be disposed of.

Come and see our new dress goods. Black goods were never handsomer. Novelties never prettier. Both never cheaper. Severance & Son.

A RAIN which began Sunday evening continued all night and most of yesterday, plying the earth a good wetting. To-day will be clearing and cooler.

THE L. & N. will sell round trip tickets to Louisville till Oct. 3rd at $4.05 on account of the trots of the Louisville Driving Association. Tickets will be good to return till the 5th.

An enthusiastic Bryan club was organized at Kingsville a few nights ago. Dr. C. M. Thompson was elected president, W. L. McCarty, vice president, and Jas. Roy, secretary and treasurer.

If all the speakers who are advertised to orate here county court day do so, the welken will ring from early morn till close of day. Come in early and get it all without money and without price.

THE L. & N. will sell round-trip tickets to the Broadhead fair beginning to-day and continuing till Oct. 1 inclusive, good to return Oct. 2d, at one fare for the round-trip, which is 55 cents from here.

Two cars of the afternoon train from Richmond jumped the track near Hyattsville Friday and were demolished. The rest of the train didn't get here till 1 A. M. and the other till 5 A. M. No one was hurt.

Don't fail to hear Congressman Bailey, of Texas, at the court-house here, Friday night, next. He is an eloquent speaker and said to be one of the best posted men in the country on the silver question.

ABOUT HALF.—Mr. W. L. McCarty, manager of the Kings Mountain Canning Co., who was here Friday, tells us he will be able to can only about half as many tomatoes this year as last, owing to the lateness of the crop.

A BRYAN club was organized at McCormacks Saturday night with 25 members. Mr. D. McKittrick was made president and J. M. Carter, secretary. Speeches were made by Messrs. J. N. Saunders, T. M. Goodknight and P. W. Carter.

A GERMAN who has been feeling the pulse of his countrymen in this county says that the free silver sentiment among them is under estimated and that all that is necessary to make them vote for Bryan is enlightenment on the subject. Can't the campaign committee see that they get it?

BAILEY.—Of the Hon. J. W. Bailey, the gifted young Congressman from Texas, who will speak here Friday night, 2d, at 8 o'clock, Senator Blackburn says: "I have heard all the great orators in this country, and on the money question, I regard Bailey as the ablest most convincing and the most eloquent of them all."

AN INFANT SAINT.—George M. Davidson is a clever man, kind and gentle in character and disposition as an infant saint.—Richmond Panograph. Yes, George is a sweet little cherub. He is too good to go to Sunday School with bad boys or to church for fear of having to rub up against a sinner. Therefore he was never known to darken a church door. He spends the time that worse people do at church, in concocting petty political schemes to work in the dark. Oh yes, George is a saint of Old Nick variety.

HERE'S YOUR CHANCE!—The Garfield Club at Louisville will run special trains from Louisville and Cincinnati on the night of Friday, Oct. 16, to Canton, the home of McKinley. Tickets good on all L. & N. trains to either city, arriving on afternoon of 16th. Returning arrive at Louisville Sunday morning. Fare from Stanford and all stations north of London to Lebanon $5.25 for round-trip, which is cheaper than staying at home. This is the same scheme that is being worked on all the railroads by the republican managers to get crowds to go to McKinley. They pay the difference in the cost from fat fried out of monopolies.

Coal Vases, Shovels and Coal Buckets at Warren & Shanks.

Eight cars of freight train No. 52 left the track near Parkville Sunday night, causing a delay of several hours to the passenger trains. Only one car was demolished.

HON. AUGUSTUS E. WILSON, of Louisville, who has done more for the republican party in Kentucky and received less, was billed to speak at the court-house last night. Mr. Wilson stood by the republican party when it could not stand by itself and if he had gotten his deserts he would have been given the Senatorial nomination without contest.

THE Honorable correspondent of the Lancaster Record makes a good argument against the voting of free turnpikes now, in which we fully concur. It is a waste of space, however, to argue the question. A majority of the people have made up their minds that they are going to vote to make them free in name whether they are so in fact or not, so reasoning with them would fall on deaf ears.

BROKE HER ARM.—Mrs. D. W. Vandaveer suffered a severe and painful accident Friday. In stepping out of her kitchen door the step turned and she fell on her right side, breaking her arm just above the elbow, which was also dislocated, and mashing her shoulder badly. She has suffered untold agony from the effects, but is getting along very well, considering that she is over 60 years of age.

A CALAMITY came near befalling Lincoln county Saturday. Mr. Robert Fenzel took Deputy County Clerk John Cummins with him to wind the clock in the court-house cupola and when they reached the belfry, Mr. Cummins was seen to throw up his hands and disappear. Investigation showed that he had gone through a trap door and had fallen to the next floor below a distance of 20 feet and lay in a heap thereon. He wasn't dead though and but little hurt, but the clock man thought he was a goner.

HIGH-HANDER BUSINESS.—Last week the Scarborough brothers, three in number, of the East End, drove three hogs belonging to G. W. Edwards down to Judge T. L. Shelton's at Rowland and sold the bunch to him for $7.50. The judge suspected something, but the boys told such a straight tale that he bought them any way. A few days later Mr. Edwards came down and claimed the hogs and the judge turned them over to him. The camps skipped out and it is believed that they are hanging around Mt. Vernon. Judge Shelton is out $7.50 by the trade, but will give a similar amount to assist in prosecuting the rascals.

THROAT CUT.—John MARTIN, who was here yesterday, tells us that his brother Frank came very near getting his jugular severed while coming from preaching at Coffey's School-house Saturday night. He had quarreled with the Stringer boys, John and Charlie, about a debt the latter owed him and when they left him he started home. He had not gotten far, however, before they overtook him with drawn razors and after cursing and abusing him attempted to cut his throat. There were several large gashes and he bled profusely. He was able to get home and is now confined to his bed, but the doctors think they can save him by careful treatment. No arrests have been made yet.

THE speaking at Highland Friday afternoon was not extensively advertised owing to a failure of the hills to reach that place until two days before the date. About 40 were present when Hon. John B. Thompson arrived and they listened attentively to him for 1½ hours. He made a very creditable speech and showed how thoroughly he was posted on statistics and otherwise by answering satisfactorily the money questions propounded by his hearers. The republicans were in the majority, but Mr. Thompson was glad of that for he knew from that side his converts were to come. He expressed his regrets at the failure of Mr. Davidson to meet him on the stump and sincerely hoped that when the hay fever season was over the gray gelding would give him at least one chance at him. The demonstrators in and around Highland are few and far between, but they are in good fighting trim and are determined that the majority of the enemy shall be decreased in November.

THERE are three things that are usually over estimated, a crowd, a man's wealth and a woman's age. It is a matter of small moment, but since the crowd that the rade corralled Wednesday to hear Douglas has been so greatly magnified by interested parties, we give the estimates of those who have seen crowds in their time and are not startled at an assemblage of a hundred or so. "How many do you think were here Wednesday last, Mr. J. N. Saunders?" "I should say about 600 men, women and children." "How many Col. W. F. Sheridan?" "A liberal estimate would make it 500." "Give us your estimate, Hon. R. C. Warren?" "Not a man over 500." "What do you say Mr. J. P. Bailey?" "If there were over 500, there were 2,000,000 at Lexington to hear Bryan." "What are your figures, Mr. Robert Fenzel?" "I would think that 500 would cover it." "Not over 500," said Mr. George Allen, the life insurance man, in response to the same question. No estimate we got exceeded 750 and that included town people and all who were present.

A. B. ROBERTSON & Bro., of Danville, will advertise 200 pieces new dress goods, 500 wraps and hundreds of other things in our next issue.

THE case of Elijah King for killing Ab Fish, set for yesterday was by mutual consent changed till Friday. Messrs. C. O. and R. G. Williams will defend Fish.

DEATH.—Miss Laura McGuffey, the pretty daughter of Mr. Jesse McGuffey, of the Highland section, died yesterday after a protracted illness of pneumonia and measles. She was an excellent young lady and her death is the subject of much regret. Her remains will be laid to rest in the Methodist church burying ground near Highland to-day.

THERE is complaint made by some of the lack of interest manifested by certain candidates in the present campaign. They are neglecting the party for their personal interests and next year will wonder why the workers do not rally to their support. If the county is lost in November it will be monstrous hard to elect a democrat next year and those who want office had better spend their energies in redeeming Lincoln from the rade. It can and must be done.

JUDGE MORROW, Capt. Herndon and Boea Davison spoke at Crab Orchard Saturday, the latter declining to meet Mr. Thompson, who was speaking in the opposite end of the county at the same time. We can see, however, where he is right. No man wants to be made a scapegrace of. At Crab Orchard some fellows partial to Bobbitt yelled for him, when Capt. Herndon began to speak, thereby showing their bad taste and ignorance of what an orator the captain is. His eloquence is of the soothing, soporific variety, which never fails to lull to sleep.

VANDALISM.—The other night, Mr. Jas. H. Prewitt took Rev. D. Weiburn, an aged preacher, to the church at Moreland in his surrey. After services they started to go home when they found that vandals, for whom the gates of hell and the penitentiary stand ajar, had cut the top of the vehicle all to pieces. They also treated Mr. N. J. Cone's buggy in a similar way and took a nut from the one that Mr. C. L. Prewitt had brought his best girl to church in, which they discovered by the wheel running off and dropping them in the road, fortunately without serious results. Efforts are being made to catch the fiends, who will curse the day they were born if they are caught.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.—Jayson Ebersalt, of Hicksville, O., is heart broken over the discovery that he had married his half sister.

—Thomas Halley, a widower of 70, was married at Fayetteville, Tenn., to Miss Rosa Hite, five years his senior.

—Mr. Green Russell, aged 86, and a wealthy farmer of Casey, and Mrs. Amanda Leonard, aged 40, were married last week.

—Miss Sallie Willis, of Henderson, attempted to shoot herself when she saw her beau accompanying another young lady to church.

—Frank Haley, of Elkwood, Indiana, wants a divorce because his wife gave a party and danced with a young fellow against her husband's will.

—Mrs. Margaret Beezley, aged 77, and who buried her husband less than four months ago, was married at Lewisburg, this State, to Seth Greene, aged 80.

—In a moment of jealousy Mrs. Grace Clark Conway, aged 18, of Chicago, shot and killed her husband, Harry M. Conway, aged 21, and sent a bullet through her own heart.

—M. A. Donovan senior editor of the Winchester Democrat, is going to follow his partner, George Biehn's lead and will marry Oct. 14. Miss Katherine Daniels, of Mayville, is the fortunate lady.

—Charles Hulseur and Dr. Clara Bunt were married in Cincinnati Friday and that night rode to Lexington on their tandem. Next day they rode to Louisville and will go on their wheel as far as Danville and return.

—Isaac Hubbard sold to Jerry Brisco 12 cattle for $235 and 23 hogs to Gus McCormack at 24c.

Executors' Sale of Land

As Executors of the estate of J. L. Dawson, decd., we will on Thursday, Oct. 1st, 1896,

At his late residence, sell at public outcry to the highest bidder,

About Two Hundred Acres

Of fine Hanging Fork land. This land is situated in a good community, 4 miles North of Stanford, on the Stanford and Danville pike. It is in a fine state of cultivation, mostly in grass, and is well fenced. The dwelling is a story and half brick with frame all, a good one, with necessary out-buildings. Convenient to school, only about 200 yards away, and a No. 1 Burr Water Mill adjoining the land.

The Land will be offered as a whole and then in two parcels of about 80 Acres each and which ever way amounts to the most will be accepted. Possession for seeding purposes will be given day after the sale and entire possession Jan. 1, 1897.

Terms:—The above will be sold for one third cash, to be paid Jan. 1, 1897; the balance in 1 and 2 years, equal installments. A bond with approved security, bearing interest from day of sale, must be given by the purchaser. Lien retained on land for deferred payments.

L. L. DAWSON, J. H. BRIGHT, Executors.

As Administrator of Mrs. Mary A. Dawson, deceased, I will at the same time and place sell the following property:

Cow and calf, Household and Kitchen Furniture, Beds and Bedding, Sheets, Blankets, Pillow Slips, Shams, &c., and other things too numerous to mention. Terms made known on day of sale.

W. L. DAWSON, Adm.

On the same day I will sell some of my personal property, consisting of 200 shocks of Corn, a nice lot of Millet Hay in stack, 1 Sow and Pig, 7 fat Hogs, 2 Cows and calves, 1 Rockaway Horse, 1 harness Mare, Buggy and Harness, Surrey and Harness, 1 3-horse Wagon, nice lot of Poultry, Household and Kitchen Furniture. Terms made known on day of sale.
